

SOCIETY

THE Volcano of Kilauea is so wonderfully active just now that words fail, as they always have and always will, to describe the magnificent grandeur of the spectacle. It is simply a river of fire, as ceaseless as the waves of the ocean, moving one moment with quiet dignity and again rushing as in mad terror from some unseen foe. It is the most fascinating and weird thing in the world and how any tourist can leave the islands without having seen this great exhibition of nature is beyond one's understanding. While a day gives one a view and some idea of it all a week could without any effort be a very beneficial and educational trip. It has another splendid attraction, that of the Thurston tube, which is 2100 feet long, the distance being one long dark passage almost circular with an entrance that beggars description. It must be several centuries old, for it is simply covered in a soft close growing green growth that is most attractive and almost as fascinating as is the pit of liquid flame.

STANFORD GRADUATES ENGAGED
Announcement was made in Salt Lake this week of the engagement of Miss Leora Farrell of that city to Thomas B. Angell of Palo Alto, son of Dr. Frank Angell, dean of the department of psychology at Stanford university. The wedding, which will be held in the Stanford Memorial church early in September, will come as the climax of a romance begun in the classes of the university some three years ago, when both Miss Farrell and the prospective bridegroom were undergraduates. Since then they have both been graduated, Miss Farrell to return for a postgraduate year, which she finished this spring, while Angell has affiliated with a concern of this city.

Both Miss Farrell and her fiancé have many friends in San Francisco and plans are already under way for a series of affairs during the latter part of August, when Miss Farrell will be in town.

While at Stanford Miss Farrell was a prominent member of Robie Club, and during her senior year held office as president of the organization. Angell was a member of the track squad and holds membership in the Sigma Chi fraternity.

After a wedding trip through the south, Mr. and Mrs. Angell will make their home in Palo Alto.—San Francisco Chronicle, July 29.

SOCIETY LEADERS PATRONS OF WAR SUFFERERS
For the benefit of La Vie Feminine, an organization which takes care of the dependent women and the wounded and disabled French soldiers, a group of local society women organized an exhibit of works of art, French toys, bric-a-brac, embroideries and articles of wearing apparel at the Palace hotel during the week. The exhibit was held on Monday and Tuesday.

hibit was held on Monday and Tuesday, and an encouraging number of articles were sold for the benefit of the cause.

Mrs. James L. Hall purchased a handsome tea cloth, which had been embroidered while the town in which it was made was under bombardment. Among those who attended the exhibit on the first day were the Mesdames Benjamin Brodie, Charles A. Gove, George Lent, Ansell Easton, James Love, Daniel C. Jackling, George A. Pope, Daniel T. Murphy, J. O. Tobin, Herbert Allen, Robert Chester Poute, George Howard, Robert Woods and many others.

The sponsors of the exhibit are planning to continue at 280 Sutter street, where permanent headquarters of La Vie Feminine will be established. The patronesses of the organization comprise:

Mesdames Joseph D. Grant, William H. Crocker, George H. Mendell, Jr., J. B. Casserly, Dixwell Hewitt, George A. Pope, Frederick Sharon, Francis Carolan, Daniel Gregory Mason.—San Francisco Chronicle, July 29.

SERVICE PAIR COMPLIMENTED
Many of the most delightful of recent social gatherings have been those arranged by Maj.-Gen. and Mrs. Hunter Liggett, who entertained on an extensive scale ever since their arrival in San Francisco, have been equally generous in returning the many social compliments paid to them. Informal dinners at their home at Fort Mason for their more intimate friends, elaborate dinner parties and luncheons and one or two delightful teas have been given since they came to this city, where Maj.-Gen. Liggett assumed command of the western department. Mrs. Liggett assembled more than two score friends Friday afternoon at a delightful tea given in compliment to Mrs. Daniel Howell and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Williams, a visitor from her Mississippi home. Another pleasurable affair of the week given by this same charming hostess was the dinner party of Tuesday evening at her Fort Mason home. A dainty decorative scheme was formed of roses and fernery, the table having presented a particularly gay appearance with these flowers in several shades of pink.

Seated with Maj.-Gen. and Mrs. Liggett on this occasion were: Gen. and Mrs. Oscar Fitzalan Long, Col. and Mrs. Lea Feibiger, Col. and Mrs. Frederick Perkins, Maj. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown, Chaplain and Mrs. James Osewaarde, Maj. Charles Howland and M. F. Lowenstein.—San Francisco Chronicle, July 29.

INFORMAL LUNCHEON ASSEMBLES FRIENDS

Mrs. Kirby Crittenden, who with her talented sister, Miss Maude Fay, is in Ross for the summer, entertained a group of friends at an informal luncheon on Wednesday. It was enjoyed at the picturesque old Fay home in Marin, where Mrs. Crittenden and Miss Fay are living. They are planning a number of similar informal affairs for the remainder of their stay in their picturesque summer home. Those who enjoyed the gathering last Wednesday included:

Mesdames Ferdinand Thieriot, Geo. T. Cameron, A. B. C. Dohrmann, Marshall Dill, Joseph A. Tobin; Misses Maud O'Connor, Cornelia O'Connor, Celia O'Connor.—San Francisco Chronicle, July 27.

HONOLULU VISITORS ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis are delightful visitors from Honolulu, who have been taking an active part in the social pleasures of the peninsula. They have taken the George Tyson home at Saratoga and are established there for some months, enjoying the delights of the country in California, and incidentally entertaining in many pleasant ways. They have many friends here, visitors in former times to Honolulu, or friends made during their former visits to this city, so that it is needless to say that they have plenty of opportunity for extending hospitality in the same generous way for which their home in the islands is famed.

Mrs. Lewis was a luncheon hostess recently, when she entertained a few friends from this city, together with several of those who are summering in the peninsula towns. An afternoon of bridge added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Guests at this charming affair included:

Mesdames Rennie Pierre Schwerin, Eugene Brent, Wm. Perkins Kate Burham, La Roy Nickel, Samuel Monseratt, Van Dyke Johns, Wm. Dodge.

ISLAND MATRON GIVES DELIGHTFUL LUNCHEON

Mrs. Gustave Schaefer, who is visiting here from Honolulu, was hostess at a large luncheon party at the Women's Athletic club on Tuesday afternoon. The majority of Mrs. Schaefer's guests were friends from the islands who are visiting here in San Francisco. Red, white and blue, in gladioli, delphinium and roses, made an effective table decoration, and the place cards bore patriotic emblems.—San Francisco Chronicle, July 29.

HOFINGHOFF-CAESER NUPTIALS
Edwin Hofinghoff and Miss Florence Viola Caesar were united in marriage at 3:30 this morning at the home of the bride's parents, 1645 Liholihi street. The couple left on the Maui at noon and will make their future home in California.

The bride is the daughter of August Caesar, watchmaker for Wall & Dougherty. The bridegroom has been in Honolulu about three months, having come from California.

Miss Maude Jones, who has been on the border in Arizona as the house guest for the past four months of Capt. and Mrs. George R. Rodney of Huachuca, Arizona, who were formerly stationed at Schofield with the 10th Cavalry, will be a returning passenger next week on the Logan. Miss Jones has been having a right royal time, going to all of the points of interest in that interesting country. Miss Jones went to the top of Miller peak and also went into Huachuca Canyon. Miss Jones is one of the staff of Honolulu Library and her large circle of friends will be glad to welcome her home.

CHALET FOR SUMMER

Mr. and Mrs. Claus Spreckels have been making many visits to the Feather River Inn during the last month, having taken a chalet there for the summer, so that their children may enjoy the pleasure and the bracing air of that resort. While the children are remaining there with their nurses, Mr. and Mrs. Spreckels have been there for only a few days at a time, but plan to go up later in the season for a more extended stay.—San Francisco Chronicle, July 29.

Major Laurence Redington was the host at a dinner given at the Country Club last night for Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Goodhue of New York. Besides the guests of honor, those present were: Major and Mrs. C. W. C. Deering, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Thompson, Mrs. G. E. Schaefer, Major and Mrs. C. S. Lincoln and Capt. and Mrs. S. H. MacGregor.

Mr. Rudolph Isenberg left on today's steamer for the mainland. His mother, Mrs. H. Alexander Isenberg and her son, Alexander, will remain here until the 22d of August, then return to their Berkeley home.

Mrs. Charles H. Raven and Mrs. Charles Crane left on today's steamer for San Francisco. While in the coast city Mrs. Crane will be Mrs. Raven's house-guest.

Next week Mrs. John Watt will leave Honolulu to take Miss Kathleen back to school in Victoria, B. C., where she has been a student for the past year.

TAM-GOO NUPTIALS

At the presence of a great number of relatives and friends Mr. Tam Lai and Miss Goo Kim Yen were married Sunday night at the home of the bridegroom at Kukui street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Woo Yee Bew of St. Elizabeth's church, Palama. The witnesses were W. S. Bun and Mr. Yam Yee. The latter is the brother of the bridegroom, who has been working at Benson-Smith's for 25 years and is well known in Honolulu.

The earliest mention of chariots is in Egypt. Joseph, as a mark of distinction, was placed in Pharaoh's second chariot (Genesis xli. 43). In the funeral procession of Jacob chariots formed a part of the escort of honor.
